Building Capacity for RtI2:
Practical strategies for sustained outcomes

6-Hour Video Series

This is an opportunity to update your entire staff on practical strategies for implementing Response to Intervention in your schools. Teachers, school psychologists, counselors, and all other credentialed staff members will learn how this multi-tiered model of interventions respond to student need. This unique video series also designed to:

- Foster consensus among critical stakeholders
- Develop a multi-tiered model of interventions that is responsive to student need
- Use data to design interventions and track student progress
- Implement problem-solving teams

The Building Capacity for RtI2 video series includes:

- A full set of DVDs featuring four instructors and instructional materials
- A CD of instructional materials
- A booklet of instructional materials in a printed format
- Web site access to the video and instructional materials

This essential video series is designed to be viewed and discussed by groups of staff members, allowing them to discuss the concepts and form ideas about how RtI2 may be successfully implemented in your schools. This 6-hour video series is designed to be shown in modules, numerous times to different staff members during several seatings. The instructional materials are easily copied or downloaded onto staff laptop computers, ensuring that all staff members have access to this important information.
