San Jose School Psychologist Honored by Statewide Association

Jennifer Rocabado, a school psychologist with the Evergreen School District, has been named Outstanding School Psychologist for the Greater San Francisco Bay Area region by the California Association of School Psychologists.

The award honors school psychologists for going beyond their job descriptions and offering expanded services to their schools and students. Ms. Rocabado has been instrumental in developing more awareness among district staff members of special education issues.

She has also given back to the profession by being elected president of the Santa Clara County Association of School Psychologists, an affiliate of the statewide organization.

CASP, with 3,000 members, is the largest state association of school psychologists in the nation. For more than 55 years, CASP has advocated on behalf of all of California's students. School psychologists offer student assessments, classroom management, program development for at-risk students and many other education and mental health services to schools and their communities.
