Oxnard Union High School District School Psychologist Called Outstanding

MONTEREY – Judy Greycloud, a school psychologist with the Oxnard Union High School District, was named Outstanding School Psychologist for the Central Coast Region by the California Association of School Psychologists (CASP).

Each year CASP officially recognizes the outstanding work of school psychologists with its Outstanding School Psychologist award. Only practicing school psychologists who provide direct service to students, teachers, parents, or community agencies may receive this recognition. Nominated by their peers, one school psychologist in each of CASP's 10 regions receives the award at the association's annual convention, held in late February in Monterey. The Central Coast Region includes Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, as well as a small portion of far-north Los Angeles County.

Greycloud has been the one school psychologist at Pacifica High School since it opened in 2001. According to colleagues, she quickly became a cornerstone of the school, assisting special education students and those with behavior, emotional and other problems that affect their learning capabilities. She also serves as a strong supporter of teachers and advises them on classroom behavior strategies.

She currently serves as president of the Ventura County Association of School Psychologists, a CASP affiliate. She has organized continuing professional development workshops for the members of the affiliate and has served as newsletter editor and in many other capacities.

The California Association of School Psychologists, with more than 3,000 members, is the largest state association of school psychologists in the nation. For more than 50 years, CASP has advocated on behalf of all of California's students. School psychologists offer student assessments, classroom management, program development for at-risk students and many other services to schools and their communities.
